2016 outlook

ADDRESS BY DIMITRY KUMSISHVILI MINISTER OF ECONOMY AND SUSTAINABLE DEVELOPMENT OF GEORGIA

Our economic policy is oriented on creating new opportunities for local and international investors to start business in Georgia. Many have benefited from the opportunities created by the government and I believe many more will take the chance, grow their business and contribute to the economic development. Most importantly new businesses will create new jobs.

People willing to start business and contribute to the wellbeing of others need support as well and government program “Produce in Georgia” is a vivid example of effective assistance. Up to date the program supported establishment and expansion of 139 business undertakings with total expected investment value of 360mln GEL. In frames of the infrastructural support component of the program 59 state owned properties were given to businesspeople. Overall businesses supported by “Produce in Georgia” program are expected to employ over 6 870 people and thousands of indirect jobs will be created.

I am glad to note that at this stage the new component of the program supporting micro and small enterprises is implemented successfully. In frames of the program up to 6 000 micro businessmen will be trained, 3 000 business plans will be financed and 5 000 new jobs will be created.

“Produce in Georgia” program also plays an important role in the development of tourism infrastructure in the regions of Georgia. Hotel development program offers entrepreneurs an opportunity to benefit from the government support when it comes to co-financing the interest rate for the bank loans, co-financing collateral and even paying franchising royalty for the first two years.

Another new component of “Produce in Georgia” program covers the encouragement of the film industry in Georgia. According to the new initiative government offers local and international investors a special cash rebate from the filming budget spent in Georgia.

As I already mentioned our main goal is supporting the development of the private sector, creation of new jobs, eliminating poverty and in general contributing to the wellbeing of the population.

With this goal two bodies were established under the Ministry of Economy and Sustainable Development. The first one, Enterprise Georgia, is already successfully implementing “Produce in Georgia” program and encourages creation of new businesses. And the second, the Agency for Innovations and Technology is very important since the modern world is driven by new technologies and to stay competitive it is crucial to support development of innovations and new technologies. Both of the agencies support business development and employ different financial and technical assistance tools.

We built and opened the very first Technological Park in Georgia, which besides supporting creation of innovative and knowledge based SMEs, will serve as a good platform for gathering inventors, entrepreneurs, innovators and scientists in a one space. The Technological Park creates an opportunity for attracting investors to Georgia and also hosting the representative offices of international companies in our country. Technological Park features ultramodern laboratory, accelerators and business incubators.

We are launching large scale project to develop broadband infrastructure and deliver high speed fiber-optic connectivity to more than 2000 currently service deficient settlements in Georgia. Such infrastructure will enable ISPs and telecom operators to deliver services and meet demand for broadband services in the areas not covered, thus facilitate competition, entrepreneurship and investment.

Despite the existence of quite challenging situation in our trade partner countries and in general the forecasted economic slowdown in the whole region, Georgia by the end of 2015 is expected to have a 3% GDP growth instead of anticipated 2.8%. According to the forecast of International Monetary Fund, Georgia as a reformer country will feature one of the highest economic growth indicators. The GDP growth in 2016 is expected to be 3% and 5% by 2017, which is the highest figure compared to the other states (for instance Armenia, Azerbaijan, Estonia, Moldova, Lithuania, Kazagstan, Kirgistan etc). Also based on the World Bank outlook in 2017-2018 Georgia will feature the fastest economic growth out of 21 countries of Eastern Europe and Central Asia.

Export support and promotion is high on government agenda in terms of the international trade development. We believe that assisting companies in increasing the range of export production and diversifying markets is key to success.

Georgia already benefits from free trade agreement with a market of over 900 million people, which includes CIS, Turkey and EU. We are also the only country in the region to have negotiations with China regarding the free trade opportunity. When the agreement is in place Georgia will have free trade access to nearly a third of the world market.

We pay a great deal of attention to the cooperation in frames of the U.S. - Georgia Charter on Strategic Partnership. In frames of a high level dialogue we are actively discussion cooperation in the fields of trade and investments, moreover launching negotiations on free trade regime are also on the agenda.

Let me highlight pension system and the capital market reforms, the two direction we are focusing on. Additionally our ministry initiated to start elaborating the institutional and legal framework for the development of the private-public partnerships (PPP).

In the end I should say that the priorities mentioned above will stay on the agenda as those directions are cornerstones to the success of any state. We streamline our efforts and activities to create a more favorable business environment for the private sector, than it has now

Minister of Economy and Sustainable Development of Georgia

ADDRESS BY KETEVAN BOGORISHVILI VICE MINISTER OF ECONOMY AND SUSTAINABLE DEVELOPMENT OF GEORGIA

I am delighted and privileged to summarize the activities of Enterprise Georgia, the agency which was established under the Ministry of Economy and Sustainable Development of Georgia slightly more than a year ago and delivered impressive results in terms of encouraging entrepreneurial activities in the country.

I guess when I address the issue of entrepreneurship development in Georgia, what comes to mind is the highly attractive business environment created by the Georgian government. Many will agree that establishing a company is extremely easy, there is no red tape and the taxation system is streamlined with little number and low level of taxes, however we have observed that the business development was hampered.

Government saw, that the main obstacle faced by entrepreneurs was insufficient access to finance and the lack of business skills and knowledge. Therefore Enterprise Georgia was established in 2014 and started implementing the government initiated program "Produce in Georgia" which aims to boost entrepreneurship through providing Technical and Financial assistance tools to SMEs. One of the main goals was also creating additional jobs and advancing entrepreneurial activities in the Regions of Georgia.

I have been honored to be involved in Enterprise Georgia operations from the very first day and witnessed myself the extraordinary results brought for the advancement of the private sector. Over a one year period in frames of the "Produce in Georgia" program 133 projects were supported and the investment value reached 355 600 000 GEL with over 6700 jobs created. Under the industry support component of the program Enterprise Georgia managed to support 75 businesses, out of which 34 are new business ventures starting their activities from scratch. The estimated investment value is GEL 205 100 000 mln, with anticipated job commitments of 2900. While encouraging entrepreneurial activities in the country the agency targeted different groups and among them the micro and small entrepreneurs from the regions of Georgia. Micro and Small business support project turned out to be very successful since up to 1500 entrepreneurs were financed, who are expected to create 3843 new jobs.

In 2015 Enterprise Georgia spent time analyzing prospective economic sectors bringing further benefits for the country and raising awareness about Georgia. I am glad to say that after years of our work the agency offered the government two entirely new directions of film industry incentive scheme and the co-financing mechanism for the hotel developers. Both of the projects were approved and added as new components to the state program "Produce in Georgia".

From now on international film producers are invited to re-explore Georgia as one of the most favorable filming destinations, since we introduced 20% cash rebate scheme, and coupled it with the amazing filming locations that country offers in terms of nature and existing infrastructure. The hotel developers are also invited to use the unique opportunity of government co-financing interest rates for bank loans, collaterals and even paying the franchise royalty to attract an increasing number of international hotel operators and improve the hospitality management in Georgia. At the same time developing the creative industries is something we will be focusing on next year. Along with supporting filmmaking, fashion and design, crafts and other directions, we aim to encourage people commercialize their talent and contribute to economy. We are looking forward to creating a platform for information exchange between the business and customers, at the same time government discusses establishing incubators and clusters for creative industries.

I would like to thank the commercial banks and the Association of Banks of Georgia who willingly partnered with Enterprise Georgia in frames of the "Produce in Georgia" program and were able to issue loans for up to GEL 118mln since 2014, with state co-financing interest rates. Special gratitude should be expressed towards international organizations and donors who supported Enterprise Georgia activities and contributed to its capacity building. Also let me thank each businessman who got involved in "Produce in Georgia" program and started or expended business with the help of the government.

Finally let me thank Enterprise Georgia management and each staff member whose valuable commitment and extraordinary dedication helped establish new enterprises, create jobs and advance the wellbeing of Georgian citizens.

Ketevan Bochorishvili

Vice Minister of Economy and Sustainable Development of Georgia

MESSAGE FROM THE CEO

2015 was a year of hard work, challenges, achievements and excellence for Enterprise Georgia. We saw the successful completion of our plans and significant delivery of various activities associated with government strategy for entrepreneurship development in Georgia.

As the governmental flagship organization for supporting entrepreneurship in the country and actively contributing to the private sector advancement, Enterprise Georgia streamlined its all activities for encouraging new ventures and the expansion of the companies. Our vision is based on forming a private sector driven and export led economy, since we see it as a key to the successful economic and social development of the country.

Last year we started the active implementation of “Produce in Georgia” program, which was launched in June 2014 by the Government of Georgia to facilitate private sector development in the directions of industrial manufacturing and agro-processing. Thanks to our commitment an increasing number of businesses obtained much easier access to finance what enabled them establish new ventures across a number of economic sectors like construction materials, chemicals, pharmaceuticals, paper production and packaging, electronic equipment, plastic and metal production.

Enterprise Georgia helped companies to start, develop and grow, therefore focused its activities around key objectives of supporting development of manufacturing industries in Georgia, encouraging diversification of Georgian goods and services and identifying new sectors with high potential for growth. Also when it comes to the regions of Georgia, we aimed at establishing micro enterprises, promoting modern business practices and increasing income of the regional population.

Throughout 2015 job creation has remained high on government agenda and Enterprise Georgia focused on supporting labour intensive production, enterprises which invested in staff trainings. So far we supported 75 businesses, with over 2900 expected job commitments. Moreover since 2014 Enterprise Georgia, under the Ministry of Economy and Sustainable Development launched a special project for “Micro and Small Enterprise Support” in the regions of Georgia. To date we signed contracts for 1006 approved business plans, respectively 1550 entrepreneurs will be financed in frames of those business plans and will create over 3843 new jobs across the county. I am glad to say that women entrepreneurs have been very active since their share in the financed projects is over 36%.

The beneficiaries of our export support program also found last year highly rewarding. With the direct support from Enterprise Georgia 113 Georgian participants took part in over 15 international trade fairs, mission and other events. As a result the total value of contracts signed by Georgian export oriented companies in frames of the international events exceeded 40 million GEL. We regard this to be a major achievement and plan to render an extensive support to local companies during 2016, helping them enter new markets, obtain competitive advantage and promote Georgia overseas. Enterprise Georgia is developing an export strategy document which will be tailored to the needs of the local companies and takes into consideration their main concerns. Also it is noteworthy that we have provided DCFTA related trainings and information to over 160 SMEs and 600 have received relevant information from our service center.

2015 was also a year for excellence and international recognition for Enterprise Georgia. With the help of GIZ, Enterprise Georgia made important step. The Agency recently joined the list of world known companies such as Robert Bosch, BMW, VW, Xerox, Ricoh, Grundfos, and Philips who boast to have a European Foundation for Quality Management (EFQM) degree. For Enterprise Georgia international recognition like EFQM is crucial, since we focus on establishing effective cooperation with private and public sector representatives within the country and abroad.

Enterprise Georgia in a consortium with Georgia's Innovation and Technology Agency (GITA) recently joined Enterprise Europe Network (EEN). Through this wide network we aim to gain access to contact points providing information and support for SMEs in the fields of international business cooperation, innovation, knowledge and technology transfer.

It was also the year when I took over agency's former CEO, George Tsikolia's office, who steered the agency through the most challenging phase of developing financial support mechanisms for SMEs and establishing operations in 2014. I would like to take this opportunity and thank George for his significant contribution to Enterprise Georgia and "Produce in Georgia" program. Also since George was recently appointed Envoy Extraordinary and Plenipotentiary to United States, we plan to continue tight cooperation in developing economic relations with the United States, promoting Georgian export products, planning joint business events etc.

I am delighted to say that we are moving into 2016 with two completely new projects for promoting film production in Georgia as well as supporting development of hotels in the regions. Government already approved these initiatives and extended "Produce in Georgia" program to the new projects. At the same time we will continue offering sound financial and technical assistance to new enterprises or the ones willing to expand their operations. Small and Micro business support program will be further offered to the regional population.

In the upcoming year we plan to place a greater emphasis on ensuring that the benefits of the "Produce in Georgia" program flow to all regions of the country. We want to make sure that the supported companies are investing in innovation, R&D, staff development. In addition Enterprise Georgia sees a great potential in women entrepreneurs and encourages their participation in every government supported initiative.

In 2016 Enterprise Georgia will closely cooperate with its international partners. Matchmaking of Georgian and Japanese companies will continue with Japan International Cooperation Agency. Training Needs Assessment project is planned to be completed in co-operation with European Training Foundation. "Fit for partnership with Germany" project is in the pipeline jointly with GIZ and German government.

Last but definitely not least I would like to thank the staff of Enterprise Georgia. I am proud to say that these are people standing behind and supporting every single step taken by the agency. The tremendous work and dedication of these young and motivated professionals resulted in the successful implementation of "Produce in Georgia" program, increased exports and Enterprise Georgia's international recognition for quality management.

High proficiency and commitment of our staff members is crucial for Enterprise Georgia operations and consequently for the success of newly established enterprises.

Enterprise Georgia is not an abstract legal entity. Enterprise Georgia is its people - a team of young and motivated individuals whose hard work, enthusiasm and commitment ensures the success of the Agency.

We work...

in a nurturing environment where opportunities are offered, skills are stretched and excellence is rewarded.

ENTREPRENEURSHIP DEVELOPMENT

The corner stone of Enterprise Georgia's activities is working towards entrepreneurship development in the country, enhancing entrepreneurial spirit and culture.

The intensive work of the agency is the response to the existing situation in the country - 99% of registered businesses in Georgia are SMEs, which employ over 40% of the whole population, however SME sector contributes only 16% to GDP. The main reasons behind this are limited access to finance and lack of needed qualifications to run a successful business.

Throughout 2015 Entrepreneurship Development Department focused its activities around key objectives that include supporting development of manufacturing industries in Georgia, encouraging diversification of Georgian goods and services and identifying new sectors with high commercial potential. The agency actively followed the main principle of supporting establishment of new enterprises and creating employment opportunities.

Therefore to respond to the needs of the entrepreneurs and make establishing or expanding business operations much easier Enterprise Georgia offered sound financial and technical assistance mechanisms. In the long run these mechanisms are expected to significantly increase the competitiveness of the Georgian private sector and promote transfer of innovation and technology.

Financial Assistance:

Enterprise Georgia is the key implementing partner of the state initiated program "Produce in Georgia", which supports and encourages the creation of enterprises across Georgia. Since the launch of the program in 2014 Enterprise Georgia supported 79 businesses, out of which 34 are new business ventures starting their activities from scratch. The estimated expected investment value is GEL 205,1 mln, with total anticipated job commitments of 3835. With Enterprise Georgia co-financing the loans, commercial banks were able to issue loans for up to GEL 118 mln.

Throughout 2015 within the frames of "Produce in Georgia" program Enterprise Georgia successfully created a number of business opportunities in different sectors. The agency helped entrepreneurs explore and benefit from the untapped and commercially attractive sectors such as Pharmaceuticals and Chemical Industries.

One of the significant results of Enterprise Georgia's activities is the intensification of business activities in the regions of Georgia. According to the recent data, around 40% of companies were able to start their activities in the rural area, thus the goals related to increasing the competitiveness of businesses and creating jobs opportunities in the regions were achieved.

DEVELOPING THE ENTREPRENEURIAL ECOSYSTEM

In May 2015 in partnership with EY Georgia (Former Ernst & Young) business academy Enterprise Georgia organised intensive mini MBA program for the representatives of 20 Georgian companies. The aim of the course was to provide entrepreneurs with the modern business practices, improve essential management skills and further advance production processes at their enterprises.

The course gave the entrepreneurs the opportunity to explore issues such as advancement in company policy planning and the basic strategy of management, as well as economic analysis of managerial decision through the following four modules:

- Business strategy
- Finances
- Increasing professional efficiency
- Effective use of management

With the support of Enterprise Georgia, 2 most prominent Georgian high school graduates had an opportunity to go through the intensive entrepreneurial educational course at Leigh University, USA.

Active steps have been taken in terms of nurturing the entrepreneurship among the young population.

FILM PRODUCERS AND HOTEL DEVELOPERS WILL ALSO BENEFIT FROM “PRODUCE IN GEORGIA”

Besides implementing the SME support projects, during 2015 Enterprise Georgia actively focused on analyzing the market trends and came up with two new projects which will help explore the untapped potential of film industry in Georgia and also assist entrepreneurs develop hotels across the country.

The hotel industry incentive scheme along with film industry incentives are officially added to the State Program “Produce in Georgia” and from now on entrepreneurs and international film producers are invited to benefit from the incentive.

FILM INDUSTRY INCENTIVE SCHEME

From now on international film producers are invited to re-explore Georgia as one of the most favorable filming destinations, since the Government of Georgia in frames of the “Produce in Georgia” program introduced a special film industry incentive - cash rebate scheme, and coupled it with the amazing filming locations that country offers in terms of nature and existing infrastructure.

The major goal of the new initiative is to popularize Georgia as the filming destination, share experience of producers and directors, and at the same time encourage shooting international films and other products in Georgia.

Enterprise Georgia offers local and international producers from 20% to 25% rebate of qualified expenses incurred in Georgia on the following production: Feature Film, Internet/TV Film, Drama/Series, miniseries (including pilots), Animated Film, Documentary, Commercials, Reality Show and Music video.

For the maximum comfort of the producers Enterprise Georgia will ensure provision of production services based on “One Stop Shop” principle that covers location scouting, scheduling, and assistance in procurement of permits, coordination & communication with various stakeholders.

Film industry promotion project was jointly designed by the Ministry of Economy and Sustainable development of Georgia and Ministry of Culture and Monuments protection of Georgia.

According to the Government decision and based on the market demand hotel development incentive scheme is introduced to promote the hospitality business across the country, attract an increasing the number of tourists, create jobs and develop each region of Georgia.

In the frames of the hotel development initiative entrepreneurs receive the financial and technical assistance from the state. Company is located in Tbilisi and employs 95 people.

Cezanne, being one of the leading typographical factories in the Caucasus region is equipped with the latest machinery and aims to create high quality products.

As a result of the expansion Cezanne started the production of Kraft paper bags, paper cups, plastic lids and other materials used in the fast food industry. Until then such full range of products has not been produced in Georgia and all local companies were dependent on imports.

According to Tamaz Chikhradze, the director of Cezanne, company installed eight processing machines for different sized paper cups, printing and box making machinery, etc. Special trainings were organized for staff members, to become more efficient and productive. With years of experience in polygraphy company is a market leader and has the ambition to obtain the same status when it comes to paper bag and cup production

Thanks to complex services such as printing and producing paper cups and bags, Cezanne is seen to be the local market leader, however faces fierce competition from Turkey and Ukraine in terms of imported readymade materials, therefore Cezanne is working with the local food companies to match their needs.

Company is already meeting the needs of the local clients and produces paper cups and bags for fast food chains like McDonalds, KFC, Dunkin Donuts, Entrée and many more are lining up. Additionally Cezanne actively works on entering the market for paper bags. "We can make 4000 cups an hour. McDonalds, for example, needs over 10 million cups a year. To date our main clients have been importing their cups from Turkey and Ukraine, therefore, we do hope that very soon Cezanne will be able to meet the local market demand and offer products at really competitive prices."

- Says the CEO of the company, Tamaz Chikhradze.

Additionally, a new law will come into force from January 2016, according to which all kinds of products made in Georgia should have a Georgian inscription. This will place Georgian companies in fair competition with the Turkish producers, since their products don't have Georgian inscription at present and placing it would be an extra cost.

Cezanne is actively preparing to enter the foreign markets: a comprehensive market research is being carried out to determine the target countries. Also, initial steps have been taken to export to neighbouring states.

TBILISI SILK ROAD FORUM AND BENEFITS BROUGHT TO GEORGIA

October has been a really busy month for Tbilisi, since the city became meeting place for over 700 high level government and business leaders from Asia and beyond through 15-16 October, 2015. Institutional and non-institutional investors from over 34 countries gathered in the frames of the Tbilisi Silk Road Forum initiated by the Prime Minister of Georgia and jointly organized by Governments of Georgia and the People's Republic of China in cooperation with the Asian Development Bank. The Ministry of Economy and Sustainable Development of Georgia, Enterprise Georgia and Ministry of Foreign Affairs of Georgia played a crucial part in the planning and implementation of this important conference.

The primary goal of this important forum was to establish a platform for an annual high level meeting of all interested states and international organizations in order to explore opportunities, align visions and enhance partnership. The Forum, in the format of an international conference, attempted to discover new ideas for possible scenarios to enhance cooperation in the fields of transport, energy, infrastructure, trade and people-to-people contacts across the "Silk Road" belt.

In fact the words "Silk Road" are associated with the caravans loaded with silk and spices from China traveling over the deserts, steppes, forests and mountains all the way to Europe and the British Isles. The caravans are gone, but the Silk Road persists. The camel trains have been replaced by modern highways, railways, and pipelines through which modern "silk and spices" - energy, natural resources, manufactured goods, peoples and ideas - travel. Therefore, the mentioned international conference encouraged discussions and dialogue to once again highlight that the new Silk Road can become an inexhaustible resource for economic development and political stability for many countries, spreading its benefits from economic and trade to cultural and social factors.

The scope of the forum was truly impressive with five discussion panels and six topical presentations, all of which contributed to reflecting today's significant issues such as Silk Road revival opportunities and challenges, contributing to the development of the Silk Road, infrastructure projects and initiatives needed to increase trade and transit at the regional level, the role of IFIs in developing the Silk Road, and simplification of market access through free trade regimes.

Tbilisi Silk Road Forum featured addresses by distinguished keynote speakers and panelists providing a unique platform for business executives and policy-makers to share their perspectives on key issues at specialized side events. Business was one of the strong pillars of the partnership within various Silk Road initiatives and central to the event.

To make the forum more interactive and spread word to a global audience, forum organizers invited Sum-nima Udas, CNN International's Delhi-based correspondent, to moderate one of the key panels and share her perspectives. At the same time Ms. Udas is responsible for covering key political, economic, social, environmental and general interest stories from the country and presents CNN International's monthly series "The Silk Road: Past, Present, Future". This TV Series have been initiated by the CNN international team in cooperation with the Georgian government. In the frames of the project, Georgia's tourism and investment climate promotion videos are aired on CNN on a weekly basis in association with Enterprise Georgia.

Tbilisi Silk Road Forum hosted some world renowned economists, government and private sector representatives whose non-exhaustive list includes Dr. Hernando de Soto and Simeon Djankov, both world-recognised economists, H.H. Sheikh Nahyan Bin Mubarak Al Nahyan, the Minister of Culture, Youth, and Social Development, head of the UAE Delegation, Wencai Zhang, Vice President of the Asian Development Bank (ADB), László Baranyay, and Vice President of the European Investment Bank (EIB).

The forum was opened by Dr. Hernando de Soto, a renowned economist who shared his views on how to reestablish the historic Silk Road to reinvigorate trade with Asia. According to the leading economist, "Silk Road" itself is a kind of brand that the country should benefit from and Georgia acted wisely by taking up the initiative of hosting this impressive forum and inviting so many decision-makers from around the world. It gave delegates the chance to see how Georgia has progressed over the years and explore the investment potential in numerous directions. During one of his interactions, Dr. Hernando de Soto also advised the Georgian government to take the example of Singapore, Switzerland and Makau and put in place some reforms or introduce initiatives that will only be associated with Georgia and implemented in this country.

"I was truly impressed by the members of the Georgian government, the team spirit I saw, as well as their motivation and drive for development. Unfortunately, not many governments do realize that globalization is the ultimate way for further development and the Georgian government is among those few who regard integration into the global economy as the right move," noted de Soto.

Georgian Prime Minister Irakli Garibashvili made several important points during his address to the international audience and underscored the potential of Georgia as well as the most promising sectors in the country. According to the Prime Minister, by working together, the countries along the Silk Road can transport goods from China to Europe significantly faster and at a fraction of the cost.

"The fact that hundreds of businessmen and women have come to this forum is proof of the Silk Road's potential. I firmly believe that trade and commerce will drive peaceful cooperation. I know I speak for all governments represented here when I say that our business leaders are among our nation's best ambassadors. They build the bridges that unite us. The potential of the new Silk Road is not modest, and nor is the scope of this forum. We discuss here regional cooperation across a number of important sectors - transport, infrastructure, energy, hospitality and cross-border trade. Moreover, we benefit from the guidance and input of highly experienced moderators and panelists" noted PM Garibashvili.

"My government's goal is to build Georgia into a prosperous country that leverages its geographic location as a vital crossroads connecting East and West, and North and South. Georgia is Europe's natural gateway towards Asia - marking Europe's eastern-most entry point by both land and sea. I would like to say we are Europe's "shortcut" to the Silk Road. With our deep ties to the European Union, including our new Association and Free Trade agreements, our historical links throughout the region, and our burgeoning trade with China, India, Japan, and elsewhere in the Middle East and Asia, Georgia is the ideal platform for today's discussion," the Prime Minister added while addressing the participants of the Forum.

According to Dimitri Kumishvili, Minister of Economy and Sustainable Development of Georgia, just prior to the forum Chinese and Georgian governments signed an MoU for the "Silk Road" belt initiative. In the frames of the agreement the People's Republic of China has allocated 40 billion USD for the implementation of this global project.

"Georgia already is already feeling the first benefits of the Tbilisi Silk Road Forum. The Anaklia Port development project is considered as one of the first and major tasks to be implemented within the New Silk Road initiative. We have already asked potential investors to submit expressions of interest to develop the mixed-cargo port on a build, operate and transfer basis. The newly-developed port will be located on Georgia's Black Sea coast near Anaklia in western Georgia, and will be spread over 1,000 hectares and have access to a deep sea canyon," said Dimitri Kumishvili, Minister of Economy and Sustainable Development of Georgia. "The Port will be able to receive large vessels of at least 6,500 TEU (twenty-foot equivalent unit). Georgia's role as a transit destination will drastically increase after the completion of this ambitious project. We plan to build a 600 hectare Free Industrial Zone next to the Anaklia-port, this will of course create additional jobs in the region.

Moreover, investing in developing the Silk Road happens every day. The Chinese side created several instruments to finance infrastructural projects. These instruments are the Silk Road Fund and other important financial institutions, which are dedicated to financing the infrastructural projects. At the same time, Chinese investors expressed interest in building a new toll road through the Rikoti Pass which connects the eastern and western parts of Georgia. The existing tunnel, which was built during the Soviet Union, has been undergoing repair for several years and been closed for some periods, forcing drivers to instead use a winding mountain road.

- Promoting integration, by supporting investments that strengthen economic, financial and infrastructure links across countries and national borders
- Addressing global and regional challenges such as climate change, resource depletion and food security

Within the framework of the EBRD Annual Meeting and Business Forum 2015, various events and high-level official meetings were conducted which were unambiguously significant for the future development of the country.

One major result of the meetings was the establishment of the Investors Council between the Government of Georgia and EBRD. EBRD president Sir Suma Chakrabarti and the Prime Minister of Georgia Irakli Garibashvili signed a Memorandum of Understanding with the aim of providing a strong platform for dialogue between the private and public sectors. Furthermore, the new institution will bring together representatives of the government, state agencies, business associations, the business ombudsman and international investors.

On May 14, 2015 the EBRD Host Country Investment Outlook Session was organized by the Ministry of Economy and Sustainable Development of Georgia together with Enterprise Georgia. Through the Georgian Economic Outlook Panel and Success Stories from the companies operating on the Georgian market, the investment session gave the participants an opportunity to gain an in-depth insight into the country's investment climate and its position as a regional hub. Georgia's institutional reforms aimed at modernizing the economy and improving the business environment were also covered.

In general, EBRD seeks to develop a sound investment climate based on an effective legal and regulatory framework which promotes corporate governance, including sound management practices, a firm stance against corrupt practices, disclosure of information, and clear and consistent accounting and auditing practices. As for its concrete relations with Georgia, EBRD focuses on supporting the private sector clients directly and via private banks. The main directions include:

- Investing in energy sector projects, which aim to increase production and access export markets
- Investing in infrastructure, logistics, telecommunications and the financial sector to support cross-border economic activities
- Supporting the introduction of modern regulatory frameworks

It should be noted that EBRD has been very active in Georgia – virtually doubling its annual investments in 2014 to over €200 million. The Bank has invested a total of €2.6 billion in the country over the last 22 years, one of the largest investments per capita in any of the countries of its presence.

In frames of the Annual Meeting representatives of several influential companies and organizations visited Tbilisi, among them delegation of MEDEF International, together with other representatives from French companies held meetings with Vice Minister of Economy and Sustainable Development of Georgia, Ketevan Bochorishvili to discuss cooperation with Georgian SMEs.

Furthermore, Tbilisi hosted representatives of Enterprise International (EI) Singapore aiming to strengthen further its cooperation and exchange information for potential collaboration. Based on common values and mission of two agencies Enterprise Georgia is looking forward to establishing a sustainable partnership and bringing benefits in terms of accelerating economic growth.

Another part popular among the EBRD Annual Meeting and Business Forum guests was the trade fair of national products - “Discover Georgia”, organized by Enterprise Georgia.

Georgian companies specializing in mineral water and food as well as souvenirs and handicrafts displayed their products at the exhibition stand, which enabled foreign guests to get even more familiar with Georgian national cultural and historical features.

Overall, the hosting of the EBRD Annual Meeting and Business Forum 2015 was positively evaluated. According to the EBRD group, Tbilisi was a fitting backdrop for the exciting series of events. It should be emphasized that the event is a precondition for the implementation of large-scale investment programs in Georgia and has the utmost importance for the whole country. At the same time, Georgia is likely to become more attractive for foreign investors which will ensure long-term economic development and should open up new vast opportunities to establish close contact with donor organizations.

DISCOVER GEORGIA CHELSEA MARKET HOSTS GEORGIA

Through September 25-27, 2015 Enterprise Georgia transformed the Chelsea Market of New York City into a Georgian wonder. The exhibition space in Chelsea Market was divided into different decorated corners that represented the national treasures of Georgia and gave all guests the opportunity to discover Georgia, that small country by the Black Sea with a diverse landscape, ancient monuments, polyphonic music and the homeland of wine.

Arts, crafts, hand-made souvenirs, contemporary artworks, fashion designers' clothes, traditional textile, music and tourism destinations in Georgia- where east meets west with its distinctive culture and cuisine- were presented.

Visitors had a chance to explore the unique Supra (feast) tradition, an important part of Georgian social culture, taste Georgian Food presented by New York's prominent Georgian restaurants and sample the legendary Qvevri wines at New York's most reputable and popular food hub.

CUISINE CORNER

Being influenced by European and Middle Eastern culinary traditions, as well as by those of the surrounding Western Asia, Georgians did not adopt all the culinary practices that came their way, and today Georgian cuisine remains distinct, particularly in its extensive use of walnuts.

During the event guests tasted traditional food such as: PKHALI - a vegetable puree to which herbs and ground walnuts are added; KHACHAPURI – Oven-baked soft bread filled with mixed cheese. CHURCHKHELA – Traditional sweets made from concentrated fresh grape juice and nuts; made by repeatedly dipping a long string of nuts in Tatara – a mixture of flour, sugar and Badagi (concentrated fresh grape juice).

KHINKALI – Boiled hand rolled dough bundles filled with juicy meat and herbs, large dumplings made with a variety of fillings.

Visitors also had an occasion to sample and purchase organic Georgian juices, jams, sauces and other products made from the highest quality fruits and vegetables, as well as the famous Silk Road Black Tea enriched with aromatic jasmine. Companies exhibited in this corner were Kula, Aromaproduct and Gurieli Tea, whose products are in high demand in many international markets.

WINE CORNER

Georgia is thought to be the birthplace (cradle) of wine. It has an unbroken history of 8000 consecutive vintages of wine, with over 500 endemic varieties of grape of 2000 known in the world. During the event in New York, Georgian wine was presented by Georgian companies (Schuchmann Wines, Vinotera, Teliani Valley, Telavi Wine Cellar, Bagrationi, Pheasant's Tears, Our Wine).

For Georgians, wine evokes both culture and community. The species Vitis vinifera, the original wine grape, is native to the Caucasus region, and many linguists consider the Georgian word for wine, ghvino, the prototype for such Indo-European variations as vino, vin, wine, and Wein. The traditional “Qvevri” winemaking method (fermented wine in a clay vessel buried underground) dates back to the 6th Century B.C and in 2013 was proclaimed as an Intangible Cultural Heritage by UNESCO. Almost everyone who has tasted Georgian wine instantly falls in love with it.

TOURISM CORNER

Georgia, the country of stories, offered visitors a wide range of travel experiences. Georgia is a marvelous canvas for walkers, horse riders, skiers, rafters and paragliders. Equally special are its proud, high-spirited, cultured people: Georgia claims to be the birthplace of wine, and this is a place where guests are considered blessings and hospitality is a way of life. Visitors got the feel of Georgia by watching a Virtual Reality (VR) video. Also, free glasses were available for a mobile version of the video; the owner just needed to go onto Play Store and download the Discover Georgia VR video and application.

SOUVENIR CORNER

Georgian souvenirs represent a country's historical identity and can tell you about the esthetical values of the country.

On display visitors could observe traditional ornaments and style incorporated in the modern design of Georgian tablecloth, scarf, museum replicas, replicas of Georgian archeological findings, hand-made jewelry, carpets and many other distinctive pieces of artwork that highlight the cultural characteristic roots and features of the country.

FASHION CORNER

The synthesis of good taste, sense of style and elegance has always been a distinguishing feature of Georgian women. This is what has transformed Tbilisi, the capital of Georgia, over the past 20 years into a regional fashion mecca, marked with the opening of fashion houses, introduction of international standards of quality control, and more.

At the event "Discover Georgia", Georgian Fashion was presented by online store 'MORE is LOVE' that has been promoting Georgian Designers for more than two years now. The designers presented counted: George Keburia, Ketevane Maissaia, Khoshtrik, Atelier Kikala, Lalo, Irina Gachechiladze, Anouki, Tata Naka, David Koma, 7II, Eshvi, Tamuna Ingorokva, Fakoshima, Ria Keburia, Chubika, Syndrome, Dalood, Tatuna Nikolaishvili, Mariam Gvasalia, and TwoM.

The online store offers buyers both one-of-a-kind pieces as well as commercial and wearable clothing. The range of clothing, accessories, jewelry and shoes presented are tailored for every type of taste and style.

CONTEMPORARY ART CORNER

Historically, Georgia is distinguished for its creative innovations. The Georgian art school is one of the oldest in the Caucasus region as well as in Eastern Europe. Georgian movies, music and fine art always broke the mold imposed by communism and conformism, which has paved the way to free - thinking for contemporary art. The works of art on display were a clear example of the above-mentioned tradition.

All the artists Lola Jiblazee, Maya Baratashvili, Louisa Chalatashvili, Giorgi Chxo, Uta Bekia, Levan Mindiashvili, Lado Pochkua and Andria Dolidze presented at the venue are well known in international art circles and their pieces are stored around the world in private collections. Chelsea Market visitors could discover different, diversified styles, mediums and approaches displayed by the artists. This creative diversity underlines the huge potential of Georgian contemporary art.

“Georgia, as the cradle of wine and cuisine, has potential to develop wine and gastronomic tourism. Last year, about five million tourists visited Georgia, which is more than the country's population,” added the Prime Minister.

As for the transport and logistics industry, the Georgian official spoke about the Baku-Tbilisi-Kars railway project, which aims to connect Azerbaijan, Georgia and Turkey and carry containers, cargo and passengers from Asia to Europe 45 percent faster than the current route.

“The demand on Georgia's ports has increased significantly. We have taken into account this trend and are building the Anaklia Deep Sea Port. The project includes seven phases. The Port's annual turnover will be 100 million tonnes and will take Georgia's logistic opportunities to the next level,” PM Garibashvili said.

“The report said Georgia ranked highest in 2014 in all of the six dimensions of governance, covering voice and accountability, political stability and absence of violence/terrorism. Government effectiveness, regulatory quality, rule of law, and control of corruption were also highlighted.”

In terms of implemented reforms, the PM emphasized the significant progress in all spheres made by the Georgian Government, at the same time, he noted that Georgia has a strategically significant location which gives the country huge advantage.

“We support new players on the market. In this regard we have created two multimillion investment funds – the Partnership Fund and Georgia’s Co-Investment Fund.” We run a universal health care program and are proud of our strong educational system. Our country is evaluated as stable and positive by leading rating agencies,” he added.

The Prime Minister also stressed the importance of a free court system and improvements in terms of the positions in all indicators, in particular, the recent World Bank Report measuring fairness of governments worldwide.

“Since 2012, Georgia has advanced by 16 places in the voice and accountability category, by 22 places in political stability and absence of violence/terrorism, and government effectiveness by 13 places in regulatory quality, by 19 places in rule of law and by 23 places in control of corruption.”

According to Vice Prime Minister, Minister of Foreign Affairs of Georgia, Giorgi Kvirikashvili, attracting a greater amount of American capital has strategic importance to Georgia.

“We seek to attract the maximum possible amount of American capital to Georgia as it is strategically important to our country. It is also important when investors receive information regarding opportunities in the country directly from the head of government. The Prime Minister presented a very extensive report on Georgia’s investment environment, describing in detail each important direction. “It is important to hold similar meetings throughout the United States of America, including the west, in Chicago. We seek to attract as much American capital to Georgia as possible as it is strategically important to our country,” said Giorgi Kvirikashvili.

“TASTE GEORGIA” WINNING HEARTS OF LONDONERS

Enterprise Georgia in cooperation with British Georgian Chamber of Commerce, Embassy of Georgia in the United Kingdom and the British Embassy in Tbilisi organized a two-day trade mission to London.

On April 24th event called “Taste Georgia” immediately captured attention of the British potential buyers and international companies from the food & beverage sector (including wines & spirits), who gathered at the Embassy of Georgia in London to meet Georgian producers of wine and spirits, juices, nuts, spices, sauces and tea.

Companies Chelti, Shalvino, Twins Wine Cellar in Nareuli, Lukasi Winery, Bagrationi 1882, Kula, Popkultur, Aromaproduct, Georgian Products Renaissance and Geoplant had a unique opportunity to display their products in frames of the mini exhibition at the Embassy premises and introduce their produce to potential buyers, also highlight Georgia's export potential and explore channels to grow export into the UK and EU.

One of the crucial parts of the exhibition were the individual meetings held between the producers and the buyers, which were followed by a presentation and detailed discussion on import procedures and custom regulations with guest speaker Mr. John Furzer - from British government organization (FSA) Food Standards Agency. Georgian Companies had the opportunity to gain accurate firsthand information and assistance, what will be of great help when planning, organizing and actually exporting their production to the United Kingdom and EU countries.

An open discussion and informative presentation took place with Senior Trade Specialist from the British Georgian Chamber of Commerce. Companies were informed of Trade Benefits that have become available to Georgian Companies after the signing of the Association Agreement and DCFTA entering into force between EU and Georgia.

Ana Kvaratskhelia , Enterprise Georgia CEO: “I believe the exhibition, presentations and the B2B meetings were highly productive, especially taking into account the new initiative to create a Georgian Warehouse in the UK, which will act as a hub for Georgian products and give companies the opportunity to jointly transport and store their products in the UK. This will of course significantly reduce shipping and storage costs and in addition make Georgian products more accessible and affordable to interested parties.”

On April 25th Enterprise Georgia in frames of “Taste Georgia” trade mission brought to the life its initiative to introduce country to UK locals, increase awareness on Georgia as yet to be the explored travel destination and once again astonish foreigners with Georgian Food and Wine. With this big goal a cultural event celebrating Georgian Food & Wine was held at the prestigious Duke of York Square, in Chelsea (London), where the finest produce from all over the world is offered to Londoners and over 65 speciality food producers are creating the flavours of London every Saturday at Partridges Market. To best showcase what Georgia has to offer Enterprise Georgia rented a central location within Duke of York Square and hosted a pop up Georgian restaurant and Wine Bar. Menu included a selection of authentic Georgian dishes, even “Shotis Puri”, traditional Georgian bread baked in a deep circular clay oven was on offer by a pop up “Tone”. At the same time Georgian companies displayed their own production.

Ana Kvaratskhelia, Enterprise Georgia CEO: “To be honest I did not expect that much success as we organized this event for the first time, but I should say that “Taste Georgia” feast became an immediate success and was the center of attention during the whole day. It was a great live display of the growing popularity and demand for Georgian Food and Wine in London, as people stood in long lines (lasting for up to 40 minutes) to get a chance to Taste Georgia. You could see lots of Londoners and Georgian diaspora representatives coming with their families and patiently waiting for their turn to taste delicious food and some mouth watering wines and beverages. Georgian companies sold everything they brought to London and established some key contacts with local potential buyers, which itself is an important outcome of our efforts.

For me a significant result and at the same time appreciation from the UK side is the decision made by Mr. John Shepherd, the Owner of Partridge's Food market, who kindly offered Georgia a permanent stall at Duke of York Square Saturday market. This means that Georgian producers will find themselves side by side with the finest produce that is brought and sold at London's one of most prestigious markets."

The success of "Taste Georgia" event was carefully observed by journalists from leading British Press & Media including Financial Times, Telegraph and The Guardian, along with numerous food & wine writers, bloggers and photographers.

Event organized in London is not an ad hoc promotion activity, but rather a part of a well planned export promotion strategy. In general 2015 is an exciting year for Enterprise Georgia as the agency will be promoting Georgian products internationally on targeted markets via product exhibitions, inbound and outbound trade missions, online marketing, product competitions etc. In upcoming months with the support of Enterprise Georgia producers of foods, beverages, wines and spirits will participate at Sial China 2015 (Shanghai, China through 6-8 May), NYC Summer Fancy show (New York, USA, 28 June), Riga Food 2015 (Riga, Latvia, through 2-5 September), Anuga 2015 (Cologne, Germany, through 10-14 October), CPhI Worldwide 2015 (Madrid, Spain, through 13-15 October).

On top of that Enterprise Georgia is helping export oriented companies access business intelligence (market reports, access guides to targeted markets). In fact by mid May a new service center for small and medium enterprises will be operational at Enterprise Georgia office. Centre will accommodate a library (also available online), a conference room and a media room equipped with computers and all necessary export information. Regular trainings and knowledge sharing sessions will be conducted.

Already for a second time through April-May 2015 Enterprise Georgia is running Certified Export Manager course in cooperation with the Caucasus University. The main goal of the short course is to advance the knowledge and skills of export managers and help them enter new markets.

Ana Kvaratskhelia, Enterprise Georgia CEO: We are certain that our efforts will considerably enhance the efficiency of SMEs, support export diversification and help Georgian companies become more competitive on both local and global markets. All the above will result in creation of new jobs and fast economic growth.

NEW COMPONENTS OF "PRODUCE IN GEORGIA" PROGRAM

We saw a big potential of film making field as well as hotel industry, therefore Enterprise Georgia initiated special incentive schemes for international and local film producers to shoot production in Georgia and popularize country as a favorable filming destination. Big news are coming up for hotel developers, since
